Rising 11.260 feet over sea level and in a protected area of 5,700 acres, the Irazú Volcano, "Mountain of thunders and quakes" is Costa Rica's highest volcano of the Central Volcanic Range. During the fascinating tour spectacular panoramic view will be observed among beautiful spots and crops of the city of Cartago, Costa Rica's patron saint of Costa Rican Catholics. We will continue to the scenic Orosi Valley, a great beautiful area and incredible views where coffee plantations predominate, where rivers of crystalline waters glide descending from the lush tropical forests that cover the valley mountains. A delicious lunch will be served in one of the best restaurants of the zone specializing in regional native food before starting the return trip to San Jose.

The tour blends the natural beauty with astounding attractions with important cultural, religious and historical Costa Rica information.
