Upon leaving San José, the tour will take you through the majestic scene of Braulio Carrillo National Park; Cahuita National Park is located on the Caribbean of Costa Rica in the province of Limón.

The name Cahuita comes from the natives of the place and mean "Cawi" mahogany, which is a tree from the region and "ta" point or pointed.

Its main attraction is the white sands and endless coconut trees on the beach, coupled with calm and clear ocean waters, with coral reefs near the shoreline.

The park's most attractive attraction is marine life that lives in the diverse aquatic systems, where the brain coral blooms. Also, is possible to find a great array of tropical fish, decorated with brilliant and remarkable colors, tiger sharks, manta rays and eels are also permanent residents, due to the biodiversity of these waters make it an ideal diving location.

In our tour one can live the unique experience of getting acquainted with our afro-Caribbean culture.
